

Lawyers must use automation responsibly to enhance efficiency

There is a need to train and equip legal professionals with the skills necessary to effectively use AI tools, writes Abhishek Sinha

Efficiency in legal work is a goal and lawyers in every jurisdiction are constantly seeking innovative ways to streamline their workflow to deliver

Page 1 of 1

Operational efficiency

AI automation in legal practice has been steadily growing. Law firms and corporate legal departments

gy, including AI, is exemplified by initiatives such as the National Judicial Data Grid (NJDG) and the implementation of virtual courts